Pioneer Line of Steamers

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without change.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For Daily, per year,	$10 00
" six months,	5 00
" one month	1 00
" two months	2 00
Semi-Weekly per year,	5 00
Weekly per year,	3 00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

THE PEOPLE must be trusted with their Government, and if trusted, my opinion is that they will act in good faith, and restore their former constitutional relations with all the States composing the Union.—Andrew Johnson's Letter to Gov. Sharkey, of Mississippi.

Political Parties.

The political tendencies of the times both North and South, indicate plainly the early fusion of those called radicals at the North and "strait sect" men at the South. Whatever differences upon National or local politics may have heretofore existed among them, there are hereafter to be ignored and held in abeyance, and the one idea of holding on to office and spoils by the utter degredation of the Southern people, is to be uppermost in these two factions, soon to be one, North and South. The Southern people have been conquered. There is not ruin and degredation enough in this to suit the vindictive and retaliatory spirit of the ultras North and South, but the pincers must be applied until the last pound of flesh is taken, to appease the wrath of these men. The South is thus to be placed between the upper and the nether millstone, and ground to powder.

The affinity between these two factions will be apparent when we compare the propositions of those who speak for them. Mr. Sumner is not satisfied with the test of loyalty which President Johnson applied to the masses of the South. He must have a test which admits of no mental reservation and which satisfies the most fastidious. Messrs. Wilson, Stevens and others require the same.

At one time the Standard was satisfied with the oath required of all by the President who desired the benefits of amnesty. It professed to be the special defender of the President's plan of reconstruction, defended the loyalty of our people, but the recent elections have produced a change in its tone. It now calls in question their loyalty and hints of their being held under military rule till they behave better. The Progress takes the same position. In Tennessee, where the "strait sect" regime has been forced upon the people, quite a different test is applied to that imposed by the President, and yet the Standard copies approvingly the endorsement of Tennessee loyalty by the Washington Chronicle.

Still more significant of this growing affinity for Northern radicalism, is found in an article in the last Standard signed "Short Grabs," a very proper name, the entire tenor of which will strike the reader as eminently fit to have been put forth by Charles Sumner or Thaddeus Stevens. Indeed "Short Grabs" proposes the identical scheme of Sumner, to test anew the loyalty of the South and of North Carolina. He says:

"I think the proper course to pursue now, is to reorganize the State, and have the amnesty oath administered to them that are loyal, and well affected towards the government of the United States, and them only."

Here is an out and out avowal of radicalism—a direct ignoring of President Johnson's plan. Are we to hold the Standard responsible for the views of its correspondents, as it has attempted to make us for ours? We hope it will not openly at least, avow such radical sentiments as this writer puts forth.

Have the State reorganized! Why? Has Gov. Holden with all his pains-taking and labor done it so badly? Has he been at so much cost of time and health for naught? We suppose that at least such writers as "Short Grabs," would endorse his plan as a success, not a failure. We contend that it is not a failure. That he has as fully as could be done, purged the State of the taint of secession and disloyalty. The great mistake committed, was to apply his own popularity as a test of the people's loyalty.

This radical wants only those to be admitted to the right of voting, who are well affected towards the government. This has been done fully by Gov. Holden. It is a libel upon our people, to charge them with being hostile to the government. We defy the proof that they are. But how would this writer find out otherwise than Gov. Holden has done, who are well affected? What test would he apply?

FIELD AND FIRESIDE.—The publishers, Messrs. W. B. Smith & Co. of this city, have revived this publication. The first number is on our table. It is gotten up in good style and is filled with the usual variety of reading matter. We hope that the enterprise of the publishers will be handsomely rewarded.

Hon. Samuel T. Sawyer, a native of Edenton in this State, formerly a member of Congress from that District, and subsequently the founder of the Norfolk Argus, recently died at Bloomfield, New Jersey.

NORTH CAROLINA MONEY.—It will be seen by the advertisement of the well-known house of Thomas Branch and Son, Richmond and Petersburg, that they offer for sale or exchange a large amount of North Carolina Bank bills.

SELLING AT COST.—Goods may now be had at cost price. See the advertisements of Messrs. W. H. and R. S. Tucker, Messrs. Kellogg and Wheeler and Mr. Rosenbaum.

What will the President Do?

We take it for granted that whatever may be the policy of the extremists at the North, President Johnson will not back down from his position in regard to the reconstruction of the Southern States. His message treats the Congress courteously, but the firmness which he has displayed and his past forbearance and magnanimity, leads us to hope, that when the proper time comes, which is now near at hand, he will carry out his purpose and plan by proclaiming the restoration of the Southern States.

Washington correspondence we observe, assures the public, that the President will soon withdraw the troops and Freedmans Bureau from those States which have complied with his demands, and that he will soon restore the civil governments.

There is a common desire felt for the restoration of civil government. This desire however, does not arise from any hostility to the existing Provisional government. If the Provisional government is to be continued, we know no one who specially desires a change in the administration. The anxiety arises purely from the desire for the restoration of civil law.

Our people very generally believe, that there is no real barrier in the state of public feeling or in the loyalty of our people. If such impressions have been made upon the mind of the President or the Provisional Governor, we believe it is the result of representations made by partizan prejudice, and such representations do injustice to our people.

Sensible Talk.

We copy the following from the Salem Press with pleasure. The Press has been a decided Union journal, and we are glad to find it has not been swept away by the tide of strait-sectism. These are the views of every liberal minded Union man in the State, and of our people generally, excepting the "strait-sect."

"We are sorry to see a disposition among the political leaders and some of the prominent newspapers of the North, to say nothing of the over-strants in our own State, to require a still greater sacrifice and humiliation on the part of the South.

Everybody knows that there is no alternative but to acquiesce in the requisitions that have, from time to time, been made by the President, in order to re-unite the States lately in rebellion, with their sister States in the Union. And indeed, we have seen nothing emanating from the Executive Department of the nation, to cause any misgivings on our part, as to the final result. True, many of our friends are a little discouraged at the prospect of a speedy reconstruction of the glorious Union, and many predict a protracted "stay out in the cold." It may be and it may not be so. It is our opinion that the President will remain firm in his present position as to the terms of "going home."

The State of North Carolina has, in common with the majority of her sister States, done all that was required of her, and she stands ready to join with hand and heart in aiding in promoting the welfare of our common country. She has declared the ordinance of secession null and void; she has ratified the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting slavery, and clothing Congress with power, by appropriate legislation, to give that prohibition full effect; and she has repudiated the Confederate and State debt contracted in aid of the rebellion.

Most, if not all of the States have complied with the above terms, and some have even gone further, and by adopting laws conceding negro testimony in their Courts, and otherwise altering their statutes to meet the new order of things.

In the face of these efforts, on the part of the South, to meet all the requirements made, in order to place them again on an equal footing with their sister States, we are loth to entertain the idea that our conquerors are so lost to honor and justice as to quibble and hesitate, because a few over-strait malcontents are continually preaching that "all does not work right."

The South wishes to go back with all her "manhood." She does not wish to lose her self respect in the operation of reconstruction. She has acknowledged that she was mistaken, and abrogated all the obnoxious laws on her statute books; her people have expressed a willingness to be loyal to the United States of America, by subscribing to the Amnesty oath. These are all the requirements made by the President, and surely a magnanimous conqueror ought to be satisfied.

We boast of a free country, a liberal government, whose authority springs from the great mass of the people. Why should we come like a crouching slave, and petition for a reconstruction of the Union, in addition to what has already been done? If we cannot go into the Union as freemen, upon an equality with our Northern brethren, then we had better remain "out in the cold" a while longer, until our exacting brethren are willing to concede to us those rights, so dear to every American citizen.

In the meantime, let us be patient, and hope for "the good time coming."

Immigration Agencies.

There are, as we learn, one in Richmond, two in Petersburg three in Alexandria, and four in Newbern. It is said that the Swiss Consul General is anxious to introduce into Virginia and N. Carolina a large body of his own countrymen. Such would be a valuable acquisition. The present Provisional Governor of North Carolina, we are informed, recently directed his attention to the consideration of this subject, with a view to the introduction of white labor into this State.—Ex.

HOW THE NEGROES VOTE.—We clip the following amusing item from a Washington exchange:

It is said that one of Uncle Sam's contraband agents in Virginia the other day tried about a thousand of them in the art of voting. He told them they should be allowed to elect a Commissioner of their own choice to see to their affairs, and directed them all of them in favor of a Mr. W. to say "aye." One long unearthly yell went up "aye," every particular nigger "woteing" with all his might. Then he told all opposed to Mr. W. to vote "no," and every darkey "voted" "no" ten times harder than ever. Thereupon the agent looked puzzled and ram, and finally swore that the voters ought to be in—a very warm place.

A Hard Hit.

A gentleman recently returned from the South called on the President and told him that at Richmond there were in a single school two or three hundred white children as poor and ignorant as any black to be found in the whole of the South, and urged that they needed the aid of the philanthropic everywhere. President Johnson replied that he was very glad one Northern man had discovered there were any white people at the South.

Beat It.

Mr. Emanuel Fisher, of this town, butchered a few days since a beef for Mr. Henry W. Fries, of Salem, the nett weight of which was 1118 pounds.—The gross weight was 1870 pounds. Beat it who can.—Wins. Sentinel.

Mr. Ferebee from the committee to confer with the Commissioners to prepare a code for the freedmen reported as follows, viz:

The joint select committee appointed for that purpose, have conferred with the Commissioners, authorized by an ordinance of the late Convention of the State, to prepare and present a code of laws for the government of freedmen, and offer the following report, and ask the concurrence of the General Assembly.

The present session of the General Assembly, now within a few days of its close, does not afford the time and opportunity necessary for the consideration and discussion of the many and complicated subjects which must properly arise in the preparation of such a code. The sudden change in the condition of the negro from slavery to freedom, renders it difficult properly to devise and prepare a code that will be best suited to protect their interests, and to promote their welfare. Time and thought are necessary to this end.

The experience and action also of our sister States may be brought to us in a few weeks, and may shed much light upon the subject to guide and support us.

As the Legislature will re assemble early in February next, the committee with the concurrence and advice of the Commission appointed to prepare said code, are of opinion that the subject can, with more convenience and wisdom, be considered and matured at that time.

The committee, therefore, do accordingly recommend, that the further action of the General Assembly on this subject be postponed until the re assembling of the same in February next, and that to that session the Commission be requested to make their report.

All of which is respectfully submitted and concurrence asked. D. D. FEREBEE, Chairman.

The Senate concurred in the report.

Mr. Howard introduced a resolution instructing the commitee on the Judiciary, to inquire into the propriety of providing by law that all wills executed before the 1st day of May 1865, be null and void, when the testator or testatrix has become non compos, and report by bill or otherwise. SPECIAL ORDER.

The special order now came up for consideration, viz.: "a bill for the relief of the holders of State Bonds issued since 20th of May 1861, under the act ratified 16th of February, 1861, entitled "an act to secure the completion of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad company, and amend its charter.

The bill was put on its second reading, and pending the discussion of amendment proposed by Mr. Faircloth of Wayne, a message was received from the Senate, proposing that the two Houses proceed forthwith to the election of six councillors of State. The House concurring proceeded to vote, the names of Messrs. Yellowly, McLean and Davidson, having been withdrawn.

Having voted, the House resumed the Special Order, the question being on the adoption of amendment soffered by Mr. Faircloth of Wayne. (These amendments in effect, limits the benefits os the bill to the company, excluding those bond-holders who bought their bonds at nominal prices, during the war, from the proposed substitution of bonds payable in U. S. currency for those originally issued.

After a protracted discussion, mainly upon the merits of the bill, in which Messrs. Faircloth of Wayne, Cowan and Smith of Hertford, urged its passage, and Messrs. Caldwell and Henry of Bertie opposed it, the amendments were adopted.

Mr. Craige moved to amend by adding the following section:

"Be it further enacted That the Public Treasurer be, and is hereby authorized to issue to the Western N. C. Railroad Company, one million of dollars in bonds, under the same rules and regulations as provided in the bill." Not adopted.

The bill was further amended on motion of Mr. Smith of Hertford, by striking out all after the word "prescribed," in the 11th line of the 1st section, and inserting instead the following proviso:

"Provided, That the Public Treasurer shall apply the coupons due on bonds of the said Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad Company, held by the State, in payment of coupons due on such bonds of the State as may be surrendered for exchange, under the provisions of this act."

The question recurring on the passage of the bill on its second reading, the yeas and nays were ordered on motion of Mr. Sharpe, and resulted as follows:

Messrs. Allison, Barnett, Baxter, Black, Blackmer, Bonner, Burton, Cameron, Chadwick, Cox, Cowan, Dargan, Davis of Halifax, Dunn, Faircloth of Wayne, Faison, Flythe, Garland, Gidney Hamilton, Harper, Hawes, Holderby, Hoke, Holmes, Hutchison, Hyman, Jenkins of Warren, Joyner, Judkins, Kenan, Lee of Gates, Leigh of Tyrrell, Logan, Lucas, Luke, Marler, McEachern, McNair, Moore of Martin, Murphy, Nivens, Newsum, Page, Russell, Smith of Columbus, Smith of Cumberland, Smith of Hertford, Scoggin, Thigpen, Trull, Whitley, Williams, Wilson—yeas 54.

The Speaker voted in the affirmative so the bill passed its 2nd reading.

Mr. Hutchison from the committee that superintended the election for six councillors of State reported: Whole number of votes cast 148, necessary to a choice 75. Mr. Lemley received 116, Mr. Russel 88, and Mr. J. J. Yeates 77. No others elected.

Mr. Waugh from the committee appointed to wait on the Governer elect, and ascertain at what time before the recess of the Assembly, he would appear before the two Houses and take the oath of office, reported that they had discharged that duty, and that the Governor elect had designated the hour of noon on Friday next.

The House adopted the report and then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Highly Important from Washington—The President's Future Policy.

The Washington correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer makes the following important announcement:

It is rumored in well informed circles that the President will withdraw the Provisional Governors of the several States as soon as the Constitutional Amenddent is adopted, the freedmen given the right to testify, and the rebel debt and the act of secession declared null and void. The military force will then be withdrawn, and the Freedman's Bureau also withdrawn as soon as the proper spirit is shown to give the freedmen a fair trial. That he then considers the work of reconstruction complete, and that he cannot but recognize them as States upon an equal footing with the Northern States; that war will be declared at an end. Large numbers of those now excluded in the amnesty proclamation will be pardoned by another proclamation.

TRIALS BY MILITARY COMMISSIONS.—Stephen C. Lee, a citizen of Anson county, was recently tried by a military Court, at Salisbury on the charge of murdering a negro man by shooting. The court found him guilty and sentenced him to be hanged; but Gen. Ruger disapproved the sentence, and ordered the release of Lee, on the ground that the verdict should have been for manslaughter and not for murder, inasmuch as it was in evidence that the negro had threatened the life of Lee.

Joseph Corpening of Caldwell county, was also tried on the charge of attempting to kill a negro. He was sentenced to 90 days imprisonment and to pay a fine of $500, to the United States.—Charlotte Democrat.

A Very free Translation from Æsop.

A tender and beautiful Fawn once found herself in the den of a fierce old Lynx, and was naturally desirous to remove herself from such dangerous companionship.

Her endeavors to do so aroused the rage of the Lynx, who having observed the value of his prize, was gloating over the enjoyment her fatness would afford him.

Putting forth his huge strength to its utmost, he fell upon the delicate creature and proceeded to over come her.

He tore out her eyes, inflicted a cruel wound on her head, and so mangled her form that there was little of life left in it except the power of breathing.

Then fastening his victim in a corner of his den to serve him for a future meal—he said to her:

"Shout wretch, and thank the Gods for all the blessings they have showered upon thee!"

Capt. Wilson of Yadkin County, late Commander of the 1st Batalion of N. C. Sharp shooters, of the Confederate army, was brought to this place on Tuesday last by order of the U. He was committed to the county jail for trial at our next Superior Court.—Salem Press.

The Petersburg Index is warmly advocating, in conformity with the recommendation of Gov. Pierpont, such a change in our present railroad system, as will secure "uninterrupted transit and uniformity of management" throughout the State and country. "Until a man shall be able," says that paper, "to send a bale of cotton from Tennessee to the Atlantic coast without handling, as he can send a bushel of wheat from Chicago to New York, and a ton of coal from Wheeling to Baltimore, and a hogshead of tobacco from Memphis to Charleston, it is idle to expect the full fruition of our expenditures for railroads." To accomplish these important reforms, the railroad companies should be made to have through connections at every terminus, and be subject to the management of fewer heads. For instance the railroads from Bristol to Norfolk should be controlled by one instead of three independent managers, and there should be no change of bulk from one point to the other, whereas there are now three. Until such a reform is adopted, the Index insists, that neither the railroads nor the people will prosper.—Richmond Whig.

PETERSBURG, Dec. 7.—Gen. Mahone has been elected President of the Southside Railroad. L. Peebles, late incumbent, declined being a candidate for re-election.

Letter from Hon. T. L. Clingman.

There is so much truth and candor in the following letter, we give it a place to the exclusion of other matters:

CITY OF WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1865.

To the Editor of the New York Times:

There are so many erroneous statements in relation to the condition of affairs in North Carolina and other Southern States that in the hope of being able to correct them to some extent, I send you a communication: The extended circulation your paper has in the North would enable a great number of persons to see a statement as candid and fair as I am able to make it. It is of the utmost consequence that the Government of the United States should act wisely towards the States lately at war with it. It claimed the right to protect itself and to exert its powers until its safety and repose were secured. When these vital ends have been attained, its action with respect to its enemies should be modified by its views as to their moral guilt. It sometimes happens that the highest political offences are regarded as involving little or no moral guilt whatever. No citizen of the United States perhaps regards Sir William Wallace as a criminal, though he was actually executed for treason committed in an attempt to liberate his country from the dominion of England, whose armies had subdued it. Few persons look upon the Irish patriot Emmett, as guilty of moral crime, though he died as a traitor for attempting to free Ireland from that British domination to which it had been subjected for centuries. A case still more recent, and better known, is that of Louis Kossuth. He was undoubtedly guilty of treason in attempting a revolution in Hungary which had for ages formed a part of the Austrian Empire, yet he was not only not regarded as a criminal here, but on the contrary, was treated with the highest consideration by our government and people. Such cases as these are referred to, to illustrate and sustain the position that the highest political offence may have been committed without involving serious moral guilt in the opinion of civilized nations. Hence Christian governments cease to act against such offenders when assured that they have nothing to apprehend from them.

The late civil war was not produced by a majority of the people either of the North or the South, but by minorities of both, who were looked upon, however, by the opposite section in each case as representing majorities. This minority at the North consisted of men who said, in the first place, that the Southern States could not be "driven out of the Union." Secondly, that if they did attempt to go out, they were so feeble that they would be crushed in a few weeks.—Thirdly, that the slaves would, in the beginning of the struggle, rise in general insurrection and waste the Southern States. Fourthly, it was said that these States did not produce enough to subsist on without the aid of the North, and by a blockade alone could be reduced to submission. Lastly, it was said that the United States would have the moral support of the civilized world in any contest, and, if necessary, material aid.

In the South was to be found the counterpart of this party. They existed chiefly in the cotton States, but did not constitute a majority of the people there. These men said that the people of the North, though they loved the Union for its advantages and the pecuniary profits, would not fight for it, and that secession would be "peaceable." Secondly, they affirmed that "cotton was king;" that foreign nations could not do without it, and that even if war did occur the great Powers of Europe would interfere to arrest it. These parties, through minorities, seemed to represent the two sections, and being equally unreasonable, active, arrogant and insolent, they strengthened each other by their several demonstrations. The first year of the war, however, destroyed utterly the ideas upon which these two parties were based. The Northern extremists saw, in the first place, that the Southern States could not only be driven out of the Union, but were willing to leave it, on grounds which most men in the North thought slender and insufficient. Secondly, that when they did secede, the Southern people made a determined and obstinate resistance. Thirdly, that the negroes, instead of rising to claim their freedom, were so docile, and contributed so much by their labor, that they were seen to constitute an element of great strength to the section in which they lived. Fourthly, that the Southern States produced in great abundance all the provisions necessary to their subsistence. And lastly, it was seen that foreign Powers at least divided their moral support between the contending armies.

The Southern extremists were soon convinced that the people of the North would not only fight for the Union, but that they would carry on the war with extraordinary vigor and upon a most extended scale. Secondly, they saw that cotton, so far from being "King," could not bring a single soldier to the field, and that foreigners, though willing to make the best bargains possible for themselves, had no inclination to be involved in the contest.

It must be obvious to every fair mind that if these things had been previously understood the war never would have occurred. The men of sense and principle in each section would have controlled its action, and no occasion would have been furnished for a serious collision.

* * * * * * * *

The great practical question now presents itself: What ought to be the action of the United States toward the South? I am not mistaken when I say that in North Carolina the determination to support the constitution and obey the laws of the United State is universal. There are to be found here and there, perhaps, individuals in that State who will assert the contrary.—They are, however, men without consideration or character, who have been disappointed in their attempts to get office, and charge the people with being disloyal because they will not vote for them. No man living in the State believes there is at present disloyalty there. The late elections have been decided by personal preferences, aided somewhat by old party associations. Our people think that when they have complied with all the requisitions of the President, they have a right to choose their representatives. I know no man in the State, however, that I believe can take what is commonly called the "test oath" without perjury. If this be insisted on, our State will have only nominal or counterfeit representatives. Sooner than have such, many think it as well to have no representation at all. If the men chosen are true to the constitution, the more talent and consideration they have the better for the government. When an army surrenders, it is done by its officers in command, and not by men taken from the guard-house or the rear, because of their inefficiency.—So is it not better that the public of the South should come in with their representative men?—In this manner the government and the administration will obtain the entire political and moral support of the States.

It is obvious that there are in the North persons who still desire to keep up a quasi war on the South. Some of these men expect pecuniary advantages in the form of places, contracts and jobs. Another class of men seek political strength by appealing to the hostile feelings of the masses who have not yet cooled down. They persist in regarding the South as still an enemy, and desire by continued attacks to make it so. Should the government yield to their views, it will inflict injury both on the South and itself with no corresponding advantage. The Government of the United States can have the entire South loyal and true to it by accepting them as such; and it will be difficult to make the people there actively hostile at this time. If a desire for vengeance exists in the minds of any persons in the North, it should not be forgotten that the Southern States have suffered more severely than any community in modern times. Besides the loss of so many of their best men, probably two-thirds of their property is gone. The four millions of slaves estimated according to their value in 1860, constituted one third of their wealth, and the depreciation in the value of land and losses of personal property, are fully equal to another third. By now keeping them under military rule, for which no reason exists whatever, feelings of disaffection may be produced, and the expenditures of the government increased without public necessity. On the contrary, the Government of the United States can have all the Southern States again its friends by allowing them, when they have complied with the requisitions of the President, to exercise those privileges which belong, according to the constitution, to all the States of the Union.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
T. L. CLINGMAN.

The Proceedings of Congress and the President's Position.

The people of this country have been indulging the hope for the last few months that the war was being closed up, its wounds were being healed, and that we were about to emerge from the shock of domestic convulsions to peace and harmony. They believed, as Speaker Colfax said in his opening address to Congress on Monday, that "peace reigned from shore to shore in our land." They thought, from the universal support given to President Johnson and the eulogiums passed upon him and his policy by all parties, during the late elections, that we had entered upon a new and an astonishing period of harmony. In fact, there was no other issue but this. Both republicans and democrats claimed the President, and made him and his policy their platform. The former were particularly positive and earnest in their appeals to the people on this; and it was on that ground, doubtless, they obtained such an overwhelming success over their opponents. It was the doubt which existed as to the sincerity of the democrats in professing to support the President that defeated them, and confidence in the professions of the republicans that gave them the victory. At the time the President was making as much progress as possible to restore the Southern States and to have their representatives ready to take seats in Congress his name was the banner and the battle cry of the elections.—Yes, many of the republican members now sitting in Congress triumphed through carrying the banner of Andy Johnson.

That is one side of the picture. Now let us look at the other. The smoke of the contest is hardly cleared away; for many days, or weeks, at farthest, have not passed since the election. The President has not changed in the meantime, except that he has been more urgent and emphatic in demanding of the South such measures as will satisfy the North. Yet in the face of those facts we see a sudden assault upon Mr. Johnson's policy by the very party which claimed him and by the very men who obtained their seats through using his name and pretending to support him. They did not even wait till the President could inform them by message what he was doing and proposed to do, or what was the condition of affairs. A decent respect to the Chief Magistrate and for the views he might express in the mode prescribed by the constitution was the least that might have been expected from those who claimed to be his party and who so lately professed to be his warm supporters. It is the first Congress, we believe, that ever acted in such a manner, and the act shows plainly the revolutionary character of that body. Never in the history of the country had the chief of the nation such important matter to communicate and submit to Congress; never did that body need full official information more, and never was careful deliberation more required. Yet the first day—the first hours of the session—before the President had time to send his message, these men began to legislate on the most important question, and that in a manner directly in conflict with his policy. Why this unseemly haste? Why this disrespect and covert hostility to the President? We suppose Thadeus Stevens, Sumner, Wade, Wilson and other revolutionary radicals of that stripe can tell the reason; but we think the greater part of the conservative republicans can not.

Looking at both sides of this picture we do not hesitate to say that there never was a greater fraud committed upon a people—upon their constituencies—than the members lately elected to this Congress have committed—that is, judging from their conduct at the commencement of the session. We can only hope that the majority have been deceived themselves—carried away, as it were, in an unguarded moment by an artful and unscrupulous conspiracy, and that they may get out of the trap into which they have fallen. The whole proceedings, the snap judgment that was taken, the concert of action in both houses, the leaders of the movement, as Sumner, Thad Stevens, Ben Wade and Wilson; the radical revolutionary measures initiated and the secrecy maintained till the last moment—all show that it was a matured conspiracy against the President and his policy. It reminds us of the convention during the French Revolution. That is the nearest parallel in history we know of. Our Jacobins are as rabid, impracticable and proscriptive as the Jacobins of the French Revolution were, and if allowed to have their own way they will plunge the country into the same bloody anarchy as their prototypes did France. We hear with pleasure, however, that some of the bloody members of the House—and the members of this great State are particularly mentioned—are alarmed at the false step they have been dragged into, and will not follow the lead of our American Marats, Couthons and Robespierres any farther.

Congress, it is true can refuse to admit members from the Southern States; for each house is the judge in such cases, and a majority rules. The constitutionality of rejecting the members from whole States, and of the present proceedings of Congress on the subject, are very questionable; but the President has no power over the matter. All he can do is to restore the States to that point, put all their local State machinery in motion, withdraw the military, and leave them in the enjoyment of local self-government. He ought, and we think he will, pursue the even tenor of his way in restoring them. He can perform his duty, if Congress does not perform its duty. If that body be revolutionary and anarchical, he can be conservative. A conflict between the policy of the Executive and Congress on this subject would be very unfortunate, would embarrass our finances, paralyze our industry, and bring many evils upon us, but would not necessarily be the worst of evils. The country would be kept disturbed a year or so; but the people would settle the difficulty at the next elections. Should the Southern States be kept out of this Congress it is quite evident the next Congress would be chosen of a different character. A new conservative party would grow up and sink the faction that has now attained power by a gross political fraud deeper than ever plummet sounded. If the President pursues firmly the even tenor of his statesmanlike policy, he may be assured the conservative masses will approve of his course and, as soon as they can speak, will choose a different set of men to sustain him.—New York Herald.

BLACK SUFFRAGE IN THE DISTRICT.—The Radicals of the Senate carried their point in arranging the Committee on the District of Columbia so as to secure any measure they choose to bring forward giving the negroes the right of suffrage. A bill of this character has already been framed, and will be reported at the proper time. It will be stubbornly resisted by the conservatives of both parties.—Wash. Cor.

During the war the jewels of Zion Lodge of Masons, in Jones county, North Carolina, fell into the hands of a Connecticut regiment, and were ultimately carried to Hartford, where they were repaired by the St. John's Lodge, of that city, and forwarded to the North Carolina owners, with sundry additions to their value.

IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION,

For the Times, and all Times, to be Considered.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulses of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone is this law of every age to secure which we bind ourselves together to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer, as the longer lives must be, helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in early life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the films of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are anxious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the children must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases, with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go, the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhilaration and hope, men can hardly be made to feel that they are within a hand's breadth of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed. While he lives, he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its future contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material, men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China, a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overrule ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt; and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy. But money secured to your family by life insurance, will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?"

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his death, thus doing his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security can not be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally, it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.

JEWELERS' and BANKERS' SAFES made to Order, Lined with Hardened Steel.

HOUSE AND PLATE SAFES.

TO THIS CELEBRATED SAFE was awarded the GOLD MEDAL, at the World's Fair in London, in 1851.

NOTICE.—This celebrated Fire Proof safe is no longer made and sold by SILAS C. HERRING, he license to make and sell them having expired.

The thousands of Certificates from Merchants, Bankers and Mechanics of all trades, that have been given in favor of this the only true "SALAMANDER" renders it useless for the subscribers to multiply words in its favor, as full thirty thousand of "WILDER'S PATENT SALAMANDER SAFES," have been manufactured and sold in the United States; and, in almost every large fire that has taken place during the last seventeen years, these Safes have been subjected to the severest tests, and not one of the "Genuine Salamanders" has ever been destroyed.

Safes sold at New York price, with the freight to Wilmington added. No commission charged in Wilmington. We are prepared to take orders for these celebrated Safes. Samples can be seen at our office in a few days.

NEW GOODS.

New Line Opened! Another Two Weeks and Mine's Out!

A. CREECH HAS JUST RETURNED from the North, where he has bought his supply of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS

Embracing the various New Styles of the Season, together with Ladies' Cloaks, Long Shawls, Square Shawls, Ladies and Misses' Goods, Ladies and Misses' Hoop Skirts, Ladies and Misses' Balmoral Skirts, Gent's Boots and Shoes, Boys, Youths and Children's Boots and Shoes. Felt Hats, the Derby, the Dunstable, the Planter's wide brim, and other styles for Men to wear. Boys, Youths and Children's Hats. Wood and Willow Ware, Crockery and Glass Ware, and a superior lot of Family Groceries.

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I do not expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and then bring them down with a placard stuck on their bills "Selling out at Cost! selling out at cost!" No, I am dealing in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time worn, shelf-rubbed, dusty or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of the styles, and I intend to sell them as low as any body that bought goods with the expectation of paying them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them, is a fool—and the man that sells them is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no slip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years. I expect to remain here, pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City, County and the State. I expect to continue to do so. I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock. I will deal with you honest and treat you right. If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy. Call at the R. Smith building, house formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, Merchants and Auctioneers.

A. CREECH.

at his old stand, where he will be happy to see them and sell them great bargains in his line. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 25 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.
